A TIGER'S TALE

'Twas '55 when LC's beast
Sat down one day, his mind unleashed
He had to work — no easy feat
'Twas LC's tale he must repeat
He seized his pen, began to write;
He really was a funny sight
His job it was to note the things
That work at school so often brings
He told of sports, of plays, of news
How students sometimes take abuse
He talked of teachers, coaches, tests
Of clubs, of teams, of horns, of pests
How 'twas such fun to watch the scores
Of students all around these floors
How all about in this high school
He saw strange things (he's no one's fool)
How games were played amid much noise —
The crowds were cheering for our boys
The spirit there did show much steam
As throngs of people cheered our team
How clever teachers did their bit
For charming students with their wit
How kids in study hall did cram
To make good grade in that exam
He penned that functions were well planned
Because committees were well manned
That news does travel he did write
As gossip flowed from day to night
How 'round the school the cars did make
A noise that through the school did rake
The Tiger told all this in truth
About LC and all its youth
As studes look back in years to come
They'll know what high school they are from
Because this Tiger will be there
Right by their side as they will swear.

*A man named Parker is the head:
"I love each brick and stone," he said
With him there works a doughty crew
Whose total numbers eighty-two
Each day the chief takes time to plan
What letters he must write or scan
He calls his aide to make some notes
On her fine help he really dotes*

SO MUCH AHEAD . . . and so much you will want to remember. More than any other way a fine studio photograph sharply recalls details of the time it was taken. When the next important event occurs — your big job break or your engagement — let a fine studio photograph remember for you. We will be as pleased to be your personal photographer as we were to photograph you for this yearbook.
